

BRITISH ISLES - MD 105

PREVIOUSLY KNOWN AS THE BRITISH ISLES & IRELAND - MD 105i
2017 LIONS CLUB INTERNATIONAL IDENTIFIED IRELAND IT'S OWN MULTIPLE DISTRICT
DESIGNATION AS MD-133 AND DESIGNATED MD-105i AS MD-105

BRITISH ISLES and IRELAND are a group of islands in northwest Europe that include Great Britain and Ireland. The largest urban area is the London metropolitan area with between 12 and 14 million residents. The British royalty, with Queen Elizabeth II on the throne, is by far the most recognized and documented monarchy in the world today. Lionism gained recognition here in 1949 when the London Host Lions Club was chartered in 1949.

Miscellaneous Issues

The Cancer Ribbons of Multiple District 105

These pins were issued by several individuals within MD-105.

We want to emphasize that we are showing these pins to help eliminate confusion as to their actual origin. We in no way wish to imply our encouragement to other traders to issue pins that are normally reserved for the designated districts or multiple districts shown on the pin.

1983
Issued for the MD-105
Convention

1991
Issued for the MD 105
Convention

NOTE: Although the pins denoted by an asterisk (*) clearly show MD 105, they are NOT official pins of the MD. They were issued by an individual Lion from MD-105 who, allegedly, received permission from the MD 105 Council of Governors to issue the pins. It is our understanding that there are many other similar pins that have been issued by this individual. However, the ones shown are the only ones that have come to our attention. We want to emphasize that we are showing the pins only to help eliminate confusion as to their actual origin. We in no way wish to imply our encouragement to other traders to issue pins that are normally reserved for the designated districts or multiple districts. It is our sincere hope that by showing them we are not in fact giving a trading advantage to the individual involved. We have no plans to continue to show similar issues in the future.
